Remarketing

Indian Heritage uses remarketing to serve you with relevant ads after you leaves your website. This means that when you do things like create listings, add things to your Wishlist or search for items, we place a cookie or pixel on your browser or device, which allows us to show you ads which we think are relevant to your actions once you've left Indian Heritage. To carry out remarketing, we supply cookie or pixel data to remarketing providers.

Remarketing is very popular practice these days and there are different providers who we work with

- Facebook
- Google
